

Finesse crazy homework

1) (declarer) (dummy)
A432 QJ106

Lead the Q sp. The lead the J sp

2) (declarer) (dummy)
AQ654 8752

Lead the 2 sp to the Q. Then play the Ace

3) (declarer) (dummy)
AQ32 J764

Lead the 4 to the Q, Then lead the Ace

4) (declarer) (dummy)
AKJ4 87532

Lead the 2 to the Ace, Then play the K
le 8 ever 9 never

5) (declarer) (dummy)
AJ32 Q764

Lead the 4 to the J then lead the ace

6) (declarer) (dummy)
AKJ4 8753

Lead the 3 to the J .Then play A + K

7) (declarer) (dummy)
A532 Q764

Lead the 4 to the Ace. Then lead
The 2 towards the Q

8) (declarer) (dummy)
AQ43 J1052

Lead the J (ie lead top of touching hons);
Then lead 2 to Q. Then lead Ace

9) (declarer) (dummy)
K532 J1094

Lead J to the 2
Then lead 10 to the 3

10) (declarer) (dummy)
Q543 A752

lead Ace . then lead 2 to the Q

11) 2H (weak takeout)

12) 3D weak takeout ie the diamonds were bid at the lowest possible level

13) 3Sp strong takeout (NOT 2 sp please)

14) Problem. Either 3NT (and that is probably best ...) or Double.

In bidding 3NT u r hoping partner has hearts and anyway if there hadn't been an overcall u would have bid 3NT so its not a bad thing to never be put off your stride by the opponents. Double is speculative but your 14 + partner's 12 should prevent 2H making

15) We can guess that leader switched from hearts because their partner played a low discouraging heart. Perhaps a 2 hearts. If you are going to switch a club looks obvious.Perhaps the hearts were distributed like this

765

AKJ3-----|-----982

Q104

You can see if the A + K are bashed out declarer would make their Q.

